

Train Model

POC for the logic of model training, The logic simply provides the trained model if already trained is requested, other wise it tries to retrain the model, in retraining it still tends to retrain the already available model, creates a new model if and only if no current model is found.

